    class food_Food["food::Food"]
    class database_Storable["database::Storable"]
    food_Food --|> database_Storable

The diagram illustrates a class hierarchy. At the bottom is a white box labeled 'food::Food'. A blue arrow points vertically upwards from this box to a gray box at the top labeled 'database::Storable'. This indicates that 'food::Food' inherits from 'database::Storable'.
